

CDIAC HIPPO Privacy Policy

When you request to download data from the CDIAC HIPPO Archive we ask you to (1) agree with the HIPPO Fair-Use Policy and (2) to provide a valid e-mail address and a general affiliation.

Your e-mail address and affiliation will be stored forever in our data download log files. This information will be used in several ways.

- E-mail addresses will be used to notify users of important updates or problems with the data products they have downloaded.
- The domain name of your e-mail address and provided affiliation will be used in aggregate to follow the number of data products downloaded and what types of users are downloading data, e.g. educational, government, U.S.A., Europe, etc. These summary statistics will not identify individual users.
- Individual e-mail addresses may be identified in summary reports about the data download website system. These reports are only available to data system personnel and are not made public.

If you have any questions or comments about this policy please don't hesitate to contact the development team at: <http://cdiacservices.ornl.gov/feedback.cfm>.
